July 9, 2013

On behalf of The Clinical Diabetes/Endocrine Institute, the esteemed faculty, and National Jewish Health, we cordially invite you to participate in an exciting educational conference titled Clinical Diabetes & Endocrinology in 2014. The 50th year of this highly regarded program will be held January 26-29, 2014, at the Westin Snowmass in Aspen/Snowmass, Colorado.

The conference provides endocrinologists, primary care physicians and other healthcare professionals with an interest in diabetes, endocrinology and metabolism with up-to-date information on diabetes and other important endocrine and metabolism issues as presented by expert key opinion leaders. As with 49 past conferences, the 2014 conference features an exceptional curriculum by distinguished faculty.

We would like to offer you the opportunity to participate in this conference as an exhibitor and/or sponsor, and have various different levels outlined in the registration form.

Please also visit www.njhealth.org/diabetes-exhibitors for more information. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact Ashley Woodhouse at 303-728-6508, or via email at woodhousea@njhealth.org.

We look forward to working with you.
