

As a child, Jana loved sports/running, but had the hardest time breathing! She was so grateful National Jewish was down the street from her to provide insight and medication so she could participate and give it her all! As an interior designer with corporate experience, she looks forward to contributing her efforts, passion and skill to further propel awareness of National Jewish Health.