

Kaley is an investment analyst for Johnson Financial Group (JFG) where she conducts private capital due diligence and analysis, implements investment strategies and assists in portfolio management. Prior to joining JFG, she spent time as a growth private equity associate with Kayne Anderson Capital Advisors in Los Angeles. She also had an internship with PowerCom LTD in Tel Aviv, Israel and Cherry Creek Family Offices in Denver. Kaley graduated from the University of Colorado with a Bachelor of Finance. Kaley enjoys being outdoors, hiking and traveling as much as possible. She is also a member of the Ignite Board for Urban Peak, a nonprofit focused on youth homelessness. Kaley's interest in getting involved in the 5280 AIR Society at National Jewish Health stemmed from personal and family involvement with the organization for many years. When looking for continued involvement in the community and nonprofit space, 5280 AIR Society's mission and personal connection was a great fit.
