

Beaux Arts Ball 2010

MARCH 22, 2010

Denver, CO —

You need Flash to view this video.

Watch the video on YouTube.

On Saturday, March 20, the annual Beaux Arts Ball, presented by the Morgridge Family Foundation and TeleTech and benefiting National Jewish Health, was blooming with goodwill as guests at the "Midnight in the Garden"-themed event supported the nation's #1 respiratory hospital and pediatric patients with severe food allergies. Contributing sponsor for the event was CH2M Hill.

Four-year-old Jack Littauer told more than 1,100 guests how much he likes coming to National Jewish Health for treatment of severe food allergies from his home in Las Vegas, his parents and sister standing proudly next to him. National Jewish Health is famous around the world for medical research and treatment of patients with respiratory, cardiac, immune and related disorders. The event raised a record-breaking $2.2 million for the institution, with $600,000 of the total supporting research and patient care surrounding pediatric food allergies.

At the same time, the décor and entertainment were chosen with sensitivity to the current financial climate. By working closely with their vendors to minimize expenses, the event leadership created an unparalleled party experience that was fiscally responsible but stunning in details, right down to the flowers used in the Hyatt Regency Denver at Colorado Convention Center atrium and ballroom.

After a program featuring a short video of patients from throughout the country sharing their stories of successful treatment at National Jewish Health, Grand Marshals Christie and Walter Isenberg, Susan and Lee McIntire, and Debra and Ken Tuchman were acknowledged for their generosity, spirit and hard work ensuring the success of the event. Michael Salem, MD, National Jewish Health President and CEO welcomed Diane and Charlie Gallagher on stage to bestow the President's Award upon them for their many years of support for National Jewish Health programs, fundraising campaigns and events.

You need Flash to view this video.

Watch the video on YouTube.

The modest live auction, featuring a vacation package to Montana's Big Sky, a dinner for 10 by Chef Tyler Wiard of Elway's, and a dinner for 10 at Shanahan's, raised additional funds and got the crowd ready to support children with severe and life-threatening food allergies.

National Jewish Health is known worldwide for treatment of patients with respiratory, cardiac, immune and related disorders, and for groundbreaking medical research. Founded in 1899 as a nonprofit hospital, National Jewish remains the only facility in the world dedicated exclusively to these disorders. Since 1998, U.S. News & World Report has ranked National Jewish the #1 respiratory hospital in the nation.

You need Flash to view this video.

Watch the video on YouTube.

On Saturday, March 20, the annual Beaux Arts Ball, presented by the Morgridge Family Foundation and TeleTech and benefiting National Jewish Health, was blooming with goodwill as guests at the "Midnight in the Garden"-themed event supported the nation's #1 respiratory hospital and pediatric patients with severe food allergies. Contributing sponsor for the event was CH2M Hill.

Four-year-old Jack Littauer told more than 1,100 guests how much he likes coming to National Jewish Health for treatment of severe food allergies from his home in Las Vegas, his parents and sister standing proudly next to him. National Jewish Health is famous around the world for medical research and treatment of patients with respiratory, cardiac, immune and related disorders. The event raised a record-breaking $2.2 million for the institution, with $600,000 of the total supporting research and patient care surrounding pediatric food allergies.

At the same time, the décor and entertainment were chosen with sensitivity to the current financial climate. By working closely with their vendors to minimize expenses, the event leadership created an unparalleled party experience that was fiscally responsible but stunning in details, right down to the flowers used in the Hyatt Regency Denver at Colorado Convention Center atrium and ballroom.

After a program featuring a short video of patients from throughout the country sharing their stories of successful treatment at National Jewish Health, Grand Marshals Christie and Walter Isenberg, Susan and Lee McIntire, and Debra and Ken Tuchman were acknowledged for their generosity, spirit and hard work ensuring the success of the event. Michael Salem, MD, National Jewish Health President and CEO welcomed Diane and Charlie Gallagher on stage to bestow the President's Award upon them for their many years of support for National Jewish Health programs, fundraising campaigns and events.

You need Flash to view this video.

Watch the video on YouTube.

The modest live auction, featuring a vacation package to Montana's Big Sky, a dinner for 10 by Chef Tyler Wiard of Elway's, and a dinner for 10 at Shanahan's, raised additional funds and got the crowd ready to support children with severe and life-threatening food allergies.

National Jewish Health is known worldwide for treatment of patients with respiratory, cardiac, immune and related disorders, and for groundbreaking medical research. Founded in 1899 as a nonprofit hospital, National Jewish remains the only facility in the world dedicated exclusively to these disorders. Since 1998, U.S. News & World Report has ranked National Jewish the #1 respiratory hospital in the nation.

-->

National Jewish Health is the leading respiratory hospital in the nation. Founded 124 years ago as a nonprofit hospital, National Jewish Health today is the only facility in the world dedicated exclusively to groundbreaking medical research and treatment of patients with respiratory, cardiac, immune and related disorders. Patients and families come to National Jewish Health from around the world to receive cutting-edge, comprehensive, coordinated care. To learn more, visit the media resources page.

Media Contacts

Our team is available to arrange interviews, discuss events and story ideas.

Jessica Berry
303.398.1082
berryj@njhealth.org