

Warren Cohen and Daniel Yohannes Join National Jewish Health Board of Directors

MAY 07, 2018

DENVER — National Jewish Health is pleased to announce the addition of two new members to its Board of Directors. Warren Cohen and Ambassador Daniel Yohannes assumed their new roles on the board in April 2018.

Warren Cohen is currently a Principal and Manager of D4 Urban here in Denver, and is a long-time investor and entrepreneur. He received a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from the University of Colorado in 1971, a certificate of Certified Public Accountancy in 1973, and a Colorado Real Estate license in 1974.

Cohen founded Cohen Capital Corporation in 1978—a Colorado-based real estate investment, management and development company. In 1984, Cohen was one of the founding shareholders of MegaBank Financial Corporation and served on its board and various committees until 2000 when it was sold to Compass Bank. In 1996, Mr. Cohen and his colleague Jim Frank bought the Denver Design Center and subsequently acquired the surrounding contiguous commercial property. This approximate 75 acres encompasses the Denver Design District and is now more broadly known as Broadway Park.

Cohen, who primarily resides in Aspen, Colorado, has served on various public company boards and also has been extensively involved on the boards of numerous charitable organizations—many in leadership positions.

Ambassador Daniel Yohannes is a businessman and philanthropist, who previously served on the National Jewish Health Board of Directors from 1995 through 2009. In his extensive career, he served from 2014 to 2017 as the U.S. Ambassador to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD), an international forum promoting economic growth, prosperity, sustainable development and energy security through better policies. Prior to that appointment, he served as CEO of Millennium Challenge Corporation, an independent U.S. foreign aid company.

Before his government service, Yohannes worked in the financial services industry as president of M&R Investments, as well as other roles at U.S. Bank, Colorado National Bank and Security Pacific Bank. In July 2006, then Mayor John Hickenlooper appointed Yohannes to be Co-Chair of the Greenprint Council, a group charged with overseeing the city of Denver's sustainability plan.

Born in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, Yohannes immigrated to the United States at the age of 17 and earned a bachelor's degree in economics from Claremont McKenna College and an M.B.A. from Pepperdine University.

National Jewish Health is the leading respiratory hospital in the nation. Founded 123 years ago as a nonprofit hospital, National Jewish Health today is the only facility in the world dedicated exclusively to groundbreaking medical research and treatment of patients with respiratory, cardiac, immune and related disorders. Patients and families come to National Jewish Health from around the world to receive cutting-edge, comprehensive, coordinated care. To learn more, visit the media resources page.

Media Contacts

Our team is available to arrange interviews, discuss events and story ideas.

Jessica Berry
303.398.1082
berryj@njhealth.org