

Pulmonologist Dr. Adriel Malavé Joins National Jewish Health Team

SEPTEMBER 30, 2022

DENVER — Adriel Malavé, MD, has joined the nationally renowned faculty at National Jewish Health in the Division of Pulmonary, Critical Care and Sleep Medicine. He has a focused interest in pulmonary hypertension, pneumonia, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) and lung cancer. He now sees patients at the National Jewish Health South Denver clinic.

Dr. Malavé comes to National Jewish Health from the University of South Florida where he completed his pulmonary and critical care fellowship. Following his fellowship, he spent 11 years at UT Health in San Antonio, Texas, a part of the University of Texas system. Dr. Malavé served in the Department of Pulmonary and Critical Care.

Dr. Malavé received his medical degree from the University of Puerto Rico School of Medicine and completed his residency at UT Health in San Antonio. He is board certified in pulmonary medicine and critical care medicine. Additionally, he has authored numerous peer-reviewed journal articles.

National Jewish Health is the leading respiratory hospital in the nation. Founded 124 years ago as a nonprofit hospital, National Jewish Health today is the only facility in the world dedicated exclusively to groundbreaking medical research and treatment of patients with respiratory, cardiac, immune and related disorders. Patients and families come to National Jewish Health from around the world to receive cutting-edge, comprehensive, coordinated care. To learn more, visit the media resources page.
